

Virtualization

Virtualization is the creation of a virtual - rather than actual - version of something, such as an operating system (OS), as a server, a storage device or network resources.